SUMMARY

Tommy is experiencing anxiety and uncertainty about his ability to succeed in upper-division theater courses, which is leading to a significant load and potential stress fracture.

KEY CONCERNS

- Worrisome performance in lower-division theater courses
- Excessive load in upper-division theater courses
- Uncertainty about ability to perform on more advanced work
- Stress fracture if performance slips

ACTION PLAN

- Recommend scheduling a check-in session to review academic goals and assessment plan
- Suggest attending a theater seminar or workshop to get a sense of the content and style of the upper-division courses
- Encourage participation in the theater club and rehearsals but emphasize the need for careful management of load
- Offer support for stress management through mindfulness or counseling services

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- After check-in, follow up with performance goals and workload management plan
- Introduce mindfulness or relaxation techniques for performance enhancement
- Recommend attending a peer support group for arts students with similar load
