SUMMARY

Student is uncertain about career prospects in environmental science or environmental policy after majoring in Earth & Environmental Geosciences.

KEY CONCERNS

- Uncertainty about whether to pursue a traditional environmental science career or something more specialized
- Political climate and job market uncertainty for students with environmental majors
- Worries about the academic and public engagement pathways for students with environmental majors

ACTION PLAN

- Help student identifying potential career paths within the major (environmental policy, environmental law, outreach, etc.), including job market and academic pathway options
- Connect student with career center's environmental sector network, including environmental nonprofits and government agencies
- Refer student to alumni in similar majors who have advanced their careers in environmental fields
- Offer career readiness workshops on environmental policy, environmental law, or outreach in the future

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- Schedule follow-up meeting to review career options and network building plans
- Evaluate interest in environmental policy or environmental law, but also consider nonprofit or community engagement options
- Discuss potential internships or co-op opportunities in environmental sectors, including academia and nonprofits
