SUMMARY

Alvin is uncertain about his graduate school aspirations and is exploring alternative career paths after his sociology and anthropology major.

KEY CONCERNS

- Uncertainty about graduate school fit for social justice research or community organizing
- Interest in alternative career paths, but lack of clarity on what work might align with his current interests
- Alternative career paths (e.g. Environmental justice, community organizing, policy, etc.) being explored

ACTION PLAN

- Refer Alvin to a career counseling session to help him evaluate if graduate school is a good fit for his current work, based on his coursework and research projects
- Suggest attending a career fair focused on social justice and community-based work, including nonprofit and advocacy roles
- Discuss potential internships or volunteer opportunities that align with his interests and current work, such as environmental justice organizing or policy advocacy

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- Schedule a follow-up meeting in 2 weeks to check if Alvin has made a decision about graduate school or if he's still exploring alternative career paths
- Recommend continuing to meet regularly to monitor his career aspirations and help him make a deliberate decision
