SUMMARY

Jane is experiencing academic stress and is unsure if she should continue in her art major. She is seeking counseling to evaluate her academic fit and identify a possible alternative major.

KEY CONCERNS

- Struggling in all art and design courses last semester
- Declining grades in major courses
- Uncertainty about continuing in art major
- Feeling disconnected from academic goals

ACTION PLAN

- Refer Jane to academic intervention services to review course grades and identify which art or design courses are most suited to her
- Suggest meeting with a counselor specializing in interdisciplinary studies or creative studies
- Discuss potential majors (e.g., art history, art therapy, creative writing) that may better align with her interests and abilities
- Encourage exploration of alternative majors (e.g., English, social sciences, performance studies) if art major is still an option

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- Schedule weekly check-in to monitor academic performance and identify new challenges
- Refer Jane to a mentorship program for non-traditional art majors
- Help Jane identify resources for academic success, such as tutoring and peer mentoring
