SUMMARY

Jodi is uncertain about her academic trajectory and is worried about not meeting graduation requirements due to poor performance.

KEY CONCERNS

- Uncertainty about career path after majoring in social sciences
- Lack of academic direction due to poor performance in major and related courses
- Feeling disconnected from potential career paths in social work, policy, or tech
- Expectation to graduate in four years

ACTION PLAN

- Help Jodi refine her academic interests and career goals through individual meetings and course selection recommendations
- Introduce Jodi to graduate school advising and career center resources for social sciences majors
- Discuss potential career paths in social work, policy, or tech that align with her interests and academic background
- Encourage Jodi to take a year or two before applying to graduate programs to reflect on her academic performance and explore alternative career paths

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- Check on Jodi's progress after meeting with academic advisor and career counselor
- Refer Jodi to a professional development workshop on portfolio building for academic transitions
- Encourage Jodi to apply for graduate fellowships or internships in her interests before applying to programs
