SUMMARY

Madison is struggling with the balance between her art major and academic requirements in the College of Arts and Letters.

KEY CONCERNS

- Feeling overwhelmed by the academic demands of her art major and the writing-intensive courses
- Discouragement due to a lack of clarity about her artistic identity and career path
- Difficulty connecting with faculty who are supportive of her multidisciplinary approach to study

ACTION PLAN

- Help Madison identify which art and writing courses are most relevant to her major and career goals
- Connect Madison with academic advising and writing center resources to manage her load more effectively
- Offer support for artistic expression through creative thesis work or performance-based projects
- Refer Madison to potential internships or independent study opportunities that align with her artistic vision

FOLLOW UP PLAN

- Check in later this semester after a major art project or thesis presentation
- Offer follow-up meetings to monitor progress and plan for graduation pathway
- Encourage Madison to consider a dual degree or minor in another discipline, such as English or business
